THE NUMBERS SHOW...

- Only 15% of youth in foster care are likely to be enrolled in college prep courses during high school compared to 32% of all students.
- Only about 20% of former foster youth go on to college compared to about 60% of all high school seniors.
- Only 3% will eventually graduate from college as compared to about 27% of the general adult population.
- Over 70% of youth in foster care report that they desire to go to college.
Children’s experiences prior to placement in foster care contribute substantially to their educational delays.

The longer youth are in foster care, the greater the number of home placements they receive.

Youth in foster care change schools more frequently, have lower GPAs, earn fewer credits toward graduation, have lower scores on state testing, and are more likely to be in special education programs.
College Completion Rates
6 Years Post Enrollment

Overall – all students 52%
Low socio-economic status 44%
Hispanic students 40%
First generation college students 43%
African American students 38%
GED completers 27%
‘Independent’ students 22%
From foster care 20%
WHAT BARRIERS LOOK LIKE

- Multiple placements means incomplete or inaccurate school records due to multiple school changes. The student will often lack the minimum requirements for admission to CSU.
- Caretakers may focus on health and safety concerns but ignore important developmental needs such as youth involvement in sports and clubs, as participation typically requires permission from social worker. Youth also typically lack family and community support.
